Prof Dr Gunilla Budde, vice president of Carl von Ossietzky University Oldenburg, referred to the necessary subsides for a comprehensive academic training at a high level at Carl von Ossietzky University.

Prof Dr Reto Weiler, head of Hanse-Wissenschaftskolleg, emphasised the support that is needed for a successful research at the Hanse Institute.

Prof Dr Rudolf Raab, head of the clinic for general and visceral surgery at Klinikum Oldenburg, called for a security policy to protect the scientific know-how, which is threatened by the NSA bugging scandal and the consequent data theft of research results.

Dr Philipp Rösler, Patrick Döring, Dr Stefan Birkner and Christian Dürr responded to these issues competently and extensively. The guests participated very actively in the arising discussions. The event was moderated by the host Jürgen R. Viertelhaus, president and CEO of VIEROL AG. The reaction of the guests showed that this high level event was informative and interesting for all persons involved.
